DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the fixed length handle of claim 3 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claim 3 has been renumbered 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
2. Re claim 1,3, and 4 the recitations in parts a, b, and c of claim 1, including: "like a regular shovel", "like an anchor" and "such as for..." are indefinite. The like recitations are indefinite because shovels and anchors can be used in many ways. Further, a "regular" shovel is unclear because the "regular" and "irregular" use of a shovel is not clear.
3. Claim 2 recites the limitation "in anchor mode" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. "Anchor mode" is not defined and thus lacks antecedent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Blum. Blum discloses a shovel comprising; a handle 1, a shovel 4, a connecting element 6 to fixedly connect said shovel part and releasably connect said handle; a plurality of clips (detents 10 and 11); said clips being releasably engaged to said connecting element and to said handle (col. 2, lines 14-20); said connecting element having a plurality of holes through which pass said clips (fig 4); said connecting element so configured as to be orientable in relation to said handle so as to allow said shovel part to be oriented in a variety of ways in relation to said handle by using combinations of said clips engaging through specific holes combinations of said connecting element and into said handle with each specific combination providing a specific mode; said connecting element in cooperation with said handle and said shovel part offering the following modes of operation :

- a. a shovel mode (figs 2 and 3)
- b. an anchor mode (fig 2).
- c. a folded mode which allows said anchor shovel to be more compact (fig 1).

The shovel handle 1 is fixed.

Art Unit: 3654

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Duffy. Duffy discloses a method including utilizing a shovel 90 as an anchor (see fig. 2); said shovel is anchored into the ground (fig 2); a cable 124 from a hoist (drum 92) on a vehicle is attached onto the handle 88 of the anchor shovel (col. 6, lines 17-26); when said hoist is being activated, tension in said cable further engages the shovel part of the anchor shovel into the ground to increase said anchor shovel's anchoring ability (claims 1,2,13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blum in view of Armstrong. Blum discloses a fixed handle length. Armstrong discloses a pivotally adjustable shovel with telescoping mechanism 16 for adjusting the handle length. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the handle of Blum as taught by Armstrong to include telescopic adjustment in order to vary the length of the shovel to increase the reach of the shovel for far locations.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
